To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administratrix of the estate of William H. Hamblin, late of Bradford, in said county of Penobscot, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said estate are not sufficient to pay her just debts and charges of administration by the sum of about one hundred and fifty dollars.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her a license to sell, at public or private sale and convey so much of the real estate of said Bradford, being all of the real estate of the deceased, inasmuch as by a partial sale of any undivided portion the residue would be greatly depreciated in value, including the reversion of the widow's dower therein, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale and charges of administration.

ABBOTT'S [illegible]

PEOPLE'S HISTORY OF MAINE.

[illegible]

Only Authorized Edition in every Town, and sold in every City in the State. Also, Agents wanted for [illegible] Counties, and nearly seven-eighths in the counties and villages. The census just completed in the State of New York, shows 64 per cent. increase of population in the fifteen cities, in the last decade, and only 9 per cent. in the rest of the State.

Maine has resisted this movement better, yet the tendency is apparent here as elsewhere. Here we find only one-fifth of our population (four per cent. more than in 1850) in cities, and these on an average much smaller than similar municipal corporations in other states. Within these two decades the transfer of our population from country to city and manufacturing village, has been at least 10 per cent. During this period Oxford county fell off 6 per cent., and Somerset and Kennebec, and the rural towns of nearly every other county, at least 3 per cent., while the population of the state increased 7 per cent. Compare the population of the strictly agricultural towns, and it will be found that the decline in population is marked, while nearly all the increase has been in the cities and manufacturing villages. Androscoggin county furnishes a striking illustration of this movement of population. Here the increase of population in the two manufacturing cities, and two or three manufacturing villages in the county, in the last two decades has been nearly 20,000, but the loss of population in the strictly rural towns has been 2,500!

AMELIORATING INFLUENCE OF AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY.

Had not the invention and introduction of agricultural machinery largely increased the productive power of the tiller of soil, we should have seen ere this a marked scarcity of agricultural products, growing out of the disproportionate growth of our civic population. The general use of improved farming tools has caused agricultural productions to nearly but not fully keep pace with the growth of the country. Some idea of the impor.ant part that agricultural machinery and tools is assuming, may be gained, when it is borne in mind that the value of these an nual manufactures in this country was seven times as great in 1870 as in 1850; and the value of those in use in the former year exceed 387 millions of dollars. The influence of this use of agricultural tools on production, must be marked, as it is well known that a man with a pair of horses and a mower can cut as much grass as six men with scythes; and that a day's labor, which a hundred years since, with the rude tools then in use, would harvest and thresh not more than a six or seven bushels of wheat, will now, with the improved machinery in use, harvest and thresh fifty bushels. When it is also borne in mind that improved methods of cultivation, better stock and associated dairy interests double the value of the products of agriculture with a less expend ture of manual labor, we see why it is the tendency of our population to abandon rural for city life, has not attracted more attention.

CAUSES OF DECAY—THE HASTE TO GET RICH.

The Governor next considered some of causes of this movement of population and suggested the following:—

1. The growing intensity, reaching almost madness, which marks the pursuit of riches; and the prevalent belief that wealth can be secured much more rapidly and successfully in trade, business and manufactures—pursuits which necessarily concentrate population, even if not for convenience located originally in cities.

In new countries where nature is to be subdued, and unbounded resources developed, the natural desire of men for money and the objects which it will secure, is perfectly strengthened. There is something in the atmosphere of free institutions, where every man has equal opportunities to carve out a fortune and name for himself, which still further stimulates activity. Instances of the rapid rise of real estate and timber lands consequent on the unexampled growth of new cities, and development of business encouraged speculative business habits, and fostered the desire of hasty accumulations. The opening of gold mines fed the fire, and young and old alike became impatient with the old slow and sure methods of life.

The haste to get rich, with its gigantic expenditures and inflated and consequently depreciated currency, to still further stimulate speculative habits, and create an increasing distaste for every occupation, and particularly agriculture, from which all opportunities for speculation were shut out. The healthy, old-fashioned method of acquiring property through slow accumulation, is sneered at, and the men who are talked about in every hamlet, who become the ideals of the boys on the farm, and who are too surely molding the business ideals of thousands, are the Jay Goulds, the Daniel Drews, the Jim Fisks and the Hailsons, whose fortunes were made in a short time by those mysterious and questionable methods known as "operations."

It is not surprising that, growing up under such influences, the young man and young woman in our rural communities should sneer upon the first opportunity to make their home in the commercial centres, where they imagine everything will turn into gold under their touch. If we would counteract these mischievous tendencies, we must strip off the gilding from these youthful miracles, and show our young men that they only hear of the few successful men who draw prizes in the great lottery of traffic; while few hear of the multitudes who draw blanks and go down to poverty, and too often disgrace. Take even the ranks of legitimate trade and commerce, and statistics show that only five merchants out of a hundred succeed, while ninety-five fail. If this be true of the more healthy departments of trade, how much more the proportion of speculators who draw a prize.

It is capable of demonstration that a thousand farmers in any district will accumulate as much property in a life-time as a thousand merchants and manufacturers on an average of years. But in the case of the merchants, the fifty who will attract attention, have the larger proportion of the wealth accumulated; while in the case of the farmers the accumulations are more equally divided. Few men who acquire wealth rapidly, long retain it unless secured in defiance of nature's great law of equilibrium. Those who have accumulated slowly have also accumulated surely.

But back of all these corrective considerations, there must be a steady and more persistent inculcation among all classes of the great truth that the highest success in life is by no means a result of the accumulation of wealth, but by the formation of a noble and elevated character, and by shedding abroad such an example of intelligent industry, temperance, purity, benevolence and Christian living, as will make one's life an atmosphere of sunshine and an influence for good in this world.

SOLITARINESS OF FARM LIFE.

Another cause of this tendency to abandon the farm, especially in the case of our young men and young women, arises from the craving for excitement—for society, recreation and all other advantages which aggregated population brings. This certain extent these advantages are real, and cannot be supplied in rural communities. And to a greater extent than is usually found, they may be had. Religious privileges need not be withheld in any rural community where there is a proper recognition of their importance. Educational advantages may be secured to rural towns in a satisfactory measure. The rural and less populous portions of our towns should demand set pools of the same length and same character as the village. With two-fifths of the cost of our public schools paid by the state, no town can excuse itself for having poor schools. And then there comes in the free high school system, adapted to the build ng of a fully settled rural town, and supported in part by the state, to meet the wants of such farming towns in the direction of advanced instruction.

It is true that the necessarily solitary life of the farmer deprives him and his family of many of the social advantages of village and city. These, however, are greatly overrated by many. [illegible] to the [illegible]

THE OCTOBER ELECTIONS.

Our despatches elsewhere fully confirm our glorious victories in all three of the October States, Ohio, Iowa and Nebraska. In Ohio the returns come in unexpectedly slow, and the Democrats are trying hard to figure down the Republican majority. That we have carried the State decisively is conceded and to-day's advices will probably settle the amount of the majority and show the actual composition of the Legislature.

From Iowa the tidings are even better than at first, showing a Republican majority between 30,000 and 40 000, with large gains in the Legislature.

Nebraska also, shows glorious gains on the vote of 1874, the latest advices placing the Republican majority at 9 000 or 10,000, against 7,158 last year. With such cheering facts we can afford to wait for details until the returns are more complete. In any and every aspect Tuesday's work was a grand triumph of the Republican cause.

FINANCIAL FACT AND FANCY.

[From the New York Times.]

During the Ohio campaign a great deal has been said about Mr. Kelley's system of bonds to be issued by the Government, it, bearing interest at 3 65 per cent and "interconvertible" with greenbacks. So far as we have seen this is the only definite scheme of finance which the opponents of the Republican party have brought forward. Very much has been promised for it. It has been guaranteed to make money cheap and credit plenty, to revive all kinds of business, and to furnish employment for those who are now idle. It is worth while, therefore, to enquire exactly how the scheme is to be put in operation, how it will affect the actual interests of the country, and what probability there is that it will accomplish what is promised for it.

The situation at present does not admit of dispute. It is as follows. The United States Government owes a bonded debt of about seventeen hundred millions of dollars. It owes a debt in United States notes of about three hundred and seventy five millions. Besides the above-mentioned amounts, there are, of course, various bonds of minor importance, the interest of which has ceased, or is payable in currency and there are the fractional notes. But these may be disregarded as incidental. What does Mr. Kelley's scheme propose to do with this debt, bonded and otherwise? Directly, it does not propose to do anything. It ignores the debt. Indirectly, it will affect both kinds of debt very seriously.

The Kelley plan contemplates, first, the "issue" of an indefinite amount of "three-sixty five" bonds. But the "issue" of bonds means simply the borrowing of money. If the Government undertakes to carry out the plan it will have to offer to borrow money at 3 65 per cent in currency. Obviously, the money will not be got unless the current rate of interest is less than 3 65 per cent. No man will lend money to the United States for less than he can get in the open market. The offer by the Government to borrow at 3 65 per cent cannot lower the rate of interest one-thousandth of one per cent. The theory, therefore, that the issue of these bonds will make money cheap or credit plenty is plainly a delusion. No one will be able to borrow at a lower rate than before, so one will be able to borrow who could not borrow before. On the contrary, the Kelley scheme can only serve to prevent the current rate of interest falling below 3 65 per cent. No one will lend for less than that when he can take his money to the nearest Sub-Treasury and always get a bond at par bearing that rate. To-day money can be had on the Wall street at 14 per cent. to 2 per cent. If Mr Kelley's notion were adopted, it could not be had for less than 3 65 per cent. At the very first step we see the scheme working in exactly the opposite direction to that which was predicted for it. The fact is that Messrs Kelley and Phillips cap over the first stage of their plan, and landing midway in the process try to describe what would take place if it were in full operation. They presuppose that the Government has managed in some way to borrow an indefinite amount of money at 3 65 per cent., and they say that if, then, the Government would exchange that money for bonds with any one who should bring them bonds, the rate of interest could not rise beyond the rate borne by the bonds. But who would have the bonds to obtain money with in this way? Clearly it could only be those who had loaned the greenbacks to the Government originally, or those to whom the original lenders had sold the bonds. But no one who already held the bonds in this way would surrender them unless the money obtained in exchange would bring a higher rate of interest than the bonds bore. So, again, we see that the scheme would not work to bring down the rate of interest, because the indispensable condition precedent, viz., the surrender of bonds, would not take place unless the rate of interest was high. The moment it sank to 3.65 per cent. the holders of greenbacks would take them to the Treasury and once more get the bonds. It would still be the money-owners who would be benefitted, and they only.

It is to be inferred however, from some of Mr. Kelley's statements that his scheme has been turned and for and by himself in stating it, and that he probably expects that the Government would begin, not by the issue of bonds exchangeable for notes, but by the issue of notes exchangeable for bonds. This, of course, is a very different plan to the one we have described, and would have very different effects. In the first place, the notes, supposing them to be made lawful money, like the existing greenbacks, cannot be got into circulation. This could be done by the payment of ordinary Government dues, which, over and above the gold interest, would be nearly $400,000,000 a year; or by the purchase of bonds or gold, at such rates as those should

A BLOW FOR THE MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRACY.

The Democracy of Massachusetts not only made a bold claim to credit for Republican achievements, but sought to make a trade by nominating for Lieutenant-Governor a Liberal Republican who was a soldier during the war, without having enquired whether he was willing to have his name thus used. The Springfield Republican now states positively that General Bartlett has declined the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor and it would seem as if it had had a private reading of his letter of declination—which so far as is known, has not yet reached the hands of the committee appointed to notify him of his nomination. The Republican outlines the letter and comments on it. If this report be true—and we see no reason to doubt it—it takes from the Democratic ticket one of its chief elements of strength and leaves it in a dilapidated condition. The hopes the Democrats cherished of gaining soldiers votes for their ticket by the use of Gen Bartlett's name are nipped in the bud, and whatever slight prospects the ticket may have had of success are badly diminished. The Journal says: "Let the Republicans push on the fight and the rest of the ticket will wish they had followed the General's example and declined also."

PRESIDENT GRANT'S DES MOINES SPEECH. It appears that President Grant's recent speech at Des Moines Iowa, concerning which so much has been said in the public press, and which some papers have represented as a deliberate bid for renomination, was almost an impromptu effort. During the afternoon of the day on which it was delivered, the President had given a reception to the school children at the Opera House, and in the course of a subsequent drive about the city he discussed the subject of public schools long and earnestly with the gentlemen who were with him. His views were regarded as so sound and sagacious that the wish was expressed that he would make them public. Returning from the drive a half hour before supper, he hastily pencilled, on four sheets of commercial note paper, the speech which he delivered at the reunion in the evening. Only two changes were made in the speech from the original draft. The history of the speech shows it to have been the expression of feelings suggested by the scenes of the afternoon, with no political reference either to the Ohio election or the third term. If the President can get up so good a speech on so short notice, there is no telling what he might do if he were once to apply himself to the task.

SILVER COINAGE.—The Director of the Mint is preparing to coin ten, twenty and fifty cent silver coins, and issue them in redemption of fractional currency. There is now in circulation $46,683,575 of fractional currency, and $12,000 000 are in ten cent notes, $1, 500,000 in fifteen cent notes, $2,000,000 in five cent notes $10,000,000 in twenty-five cent notes, and $13 000 000 in fifty cent notes. Hence it will require $120,000,000 in dimes to retire the notes of that denomination, and two years will be required to coin them alone, unless the coinage of all other pieces be suspended. It will take 40,000,000 quarters to replace the twenty-five cent notes, and 830,000,000 half-dollars to replace the fifty cent notes. It is believed, however that at least $8,000,000 of the fractional currency has been worn out in circulation and will never be presented for redemption.

The importation of dry goods into the country is still lessening in amount, this year, so far, that is to say, for nine months, the value is thirty-three millions less than in 1872. They fell off nearly twenty millions in 1873, eleven millions in 1874, and four millions this year. While there has been no remarkable diminution in the imports of miscellaneous dry goods, or in manufactures of flax, woolen goods have fallen off about 25 per cent. since 1873, and considerably since last year. Of silks, New York imported in 1873 seven millions dollars worth in the first nine months; in 1874, four millions; this year nearly five millions. On the whole we are purchasing less foreign goods. This is encouraging. If we owed no foreign debt, it would not be all gain, for we would be obliged in some degree to buy in order to make a market for our surplus produce; in our present financial condition it is all gain, that is to say, we have just so much more money to devote to the payment of interest. If this economical process continues, our wheat, and cotton, and other products will soon make better times for everybody, even including the manufacturers of woolen and cotton goods, who are likely to feel the reaction as late as any body.

EXPORTS OF COAL FROM GREAT BRITAIN. The exports of coal from Great Britain have increased with gain year since 1873, although the cash amount received for them have deminished. In the corresponding period in 1874, and 6,366,971 in the corresponding period in 1875, the cash returns were as follows: August, 1873, £380,642; 1874, £1,271,150; 1875, £1,186,816. The figures for the first eight months in each of these years show a like decrease in the cash returns.

The glorious victory in Iowa was won in a contest between the parties standing on the following platforms:

Resolved, That we favor the early attainment of a currency convertible with coin, and therefore advocate the gradual resumption of specie payments by continuous and steady steps in that direction.

Democratic.

We are in favor of the resumption of specie payments as soon as the same can be done without injury to the business interests of the country; and in the meantime a sufficient supply of the national currency for business purposes, and opposition to the present national banking laws.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

OHIO

Hamilton County—The Republican Ticket Elected.

CINCINNATI Oct 13 Official returns from eighteen wards and precincts in Hamilton county give Hayes 4,834; Allen, 4,425. The whole Republican county ticket is probably elected.

Good Majorities.

It is estimated that Hayes' majority in this county will reach 1500. The Republicans elect their members of the Legislature by an average majority of 2,000

Republican Gains.

The returns from 668 precincts, comprising nearly one-third of the State, show a Republican gain of 5 400.

The Democrats Concede the State Republican by 15,000 Majority.

COLUMBUS, Oct 13 The Democrats concede the State to the Republicans by 15,000 majority and a fair majority for both branches of the Legislature.

A Slight Reduction of Hayes' Majority Claimed—The General Result Not Changed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 A special to the Evening Post, dated Cincinnati, 5 30 P M., says we think Hayes majority will slightly exceed 10 000 The Legislature is Republican. The figures to day reduce Hayes' majority somewhat but do not affect the general result.

(Signed) M. HALSTEAD.

Returns Coming in Slowly—10,000 Majority Still Conceded.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13. Returns come in very slowly, and it is yet impossible to give accurate figures on the result; but both the Republican and Democratic State Committees agree that the State has not (1) gone Republican by over 10,000 majority. The most significant news of to-day is an official despatch from Ross county, showing Allen has carried the county by only 242, giving a Republican gain of 403, which elects a Republican Senator, Treasurer and Judge. The absence of all figures on the Lt-Governor and Legislature make a definite statement regarding them impossible. While it is not certain both committees agree that it is quite probable that the Republicans have a working majority in both branches of the General Assembly. Montgomery county complete gives Allen 822 majority and Carey 570. The Soldier's Home polled 1200, giving Allen a majority in Hamilton county Hayes' majority is, as far as heard from, 619.

The Democrats Figuring Down the Republican Majority.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13. A most remarkable change in the political feeling has occurred this evening. At noon the Democrats conceded the State to the Republicans by from 10,000, to 15,000, but this afternoon they received private advices which considerably changed their figures, steadily cutting down Hayes' prospective majority. This evening the Democratic Committee closed their headquarters to outsiders, and have since been figuring on the result. They now claim that if Hayes be elected at all he will not have over 2500 majority. This result the Committee claim is reached from figures received from their private correspondents in 53 counties, with 35 counties to hear from. Thompson, the Democratic Chairman, says they yet hope to have Allen's election by a small majority. This news spread like wild-fire, and men who were confident to-day and jubilant over having won considerable amount of money on Hayes' election, now fill the Republican Committee rooms, anxiously enquiring for news.

The Republican Figures.

A. T. Wickoff, Chairman of the Republican Committee, admits that his news of this afternoon will cut down Hayes' majority, but claims that he has no news at all in keeping with the news at the Democratic Rooms. He declares he cannot see how it is possible to overcome Hayes' majority. The Republican figures give the Republicans a majority in the House, not counting 4 considered doubtful, and 1 majority in the Senate, with 4 members yet in doubt.

Later.

A revision of the Republican figures give Hayes a net gain of 5428 in 56 counties. On the other hand, the Democratic figures claim that Hayes will not have over 2000 majority.

Hamilton County.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13. The revised figures on the vote of Hamilton County gives Hayes 449 majority.

The Democratic Committee Concede the State.

A private despatch from Democratic Central Committee of the State to the Democratic Committee of Hamilton county, published this afternoon, says:

"The Chairman of the Republican Central Committee has returns from 88 counties, which give him 15,000 majority. We have returns from 87 counties, which give a net Republican gain of over 5,000.

More Republican Figures and Not Yet Heard From.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13. Joseph D. Thompson, Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, has returns from 86 counties and estimates of the other 81. This includes returns of 6900 Republican majority in Cuyahoga and 1100 in Hamilton. He regards both these returns as too large, but taking them for granted to be true, says it cannot give Hayes more than 3500 majority.

A Republican Gain of 7,000 in 50 Counties.

Wikoff, of the Republican Committee, says he has yet to hear from 14 counties considered Republican, and 30 Democratic and so is unable to give definite figures. Returns from 57 counties now in show a Republican gain of 7,769.

Cuyahoga County—A Heavy Gain.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 13. Full returns from Cuyahoga county give Hayes 6,554 majority, a gain of 3,763 over 1875. The entire Republican county ticket is elected.

IOWA.

Heavy Republican Majority.

MARSHALTOWN, Oct. 13. The returns at 11.30 last night indicate 1760 Republican majority in the county.

The State Register's Specials Indicate Steady Republican Gains.

DES MOINES, Oct. 13—2.30 A. M. Specials received by the State Register up to this hour, and make a Republican majority of 20,000 at least and a steady Republican gain in the Legislature. Specials at midnight show a Republican gain of a Representative in Clark county, one in Fremont, two in Mahaska, one in Poweshiek, and one in Berlin. The returns are much delayed on account of the State Committee not being located at a point accessible to many wires.

Legislative Gains.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14—3 A. M. Returns from Iowa up to this hour show the Republicans victorious in nearly every county and in most cases very considerable gains. A large vote was polled, and the local tickets are badly scratched in some places. Gov. Kirkwood is elected by a large majority and the Legislature will have an increased number of Republican members.

The Estimate of 25,000 Republican Majority Confirmed.

DES MOINES, Oct 13. Specials received by the State Register up to noon do not change materially the estimate made from despatches at 2 o'clock this morning. The fuller and later despatches confirm the estimate made then of 25,000 Republican majority on the State ticket and about 30 Republican majority on joint ballot in the Legislature. The Dubuque Times believes the majority will reach 35,000.

The Senate and House.

The House stands 75 Republicans to 25 Democrats. The Senate will stand 40 Republicans to 10 Democrats.

NEBRASKA.

Handsome Republican Majorities.

OMAHA, Oct. 13. Kearney, Douglass, Fillmore, Adams and Nemaha counties give handsome Republican majorities Platte and Dodge counties Democratic. Lincoln county is undecided. The new constitution is carried.

The State Republican by 9,000 to 10,000.

OMAHA, Oct. 13.—2 A. M. Returns thus far received from the State show that it has gone Republican by a majority of 9,000 or 10,000 A very heavy vote has been polled. There was much scratching and some Independent tickets carried in local and county elections.

Returns Coming in Slowly—The Majority not Diminishing.

Complete returns come in very slowly, but it is believed that the estimated Republican majority of 10,000 is not far from correct. The new constitution has doubtless been carried by a very large majority. Complete returns are not expected before Saturday

NEW YORK CITY.

Capsizing of the Newspapers on the Ohio Election

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. The Herald says the defeat of the Intimidators is one from which they will never recover, and it is a fortunate deliverance from a great political danger.

The world says the "rag baby" is dead and nothing remains for the Democrats to do but to put it promptly under ground. It says the election is a defeat of the attempt to rally the Democrats under the Republican standard.

The Tribune says the Democrats of Ohio dug their own pit and urges a new departure.

The Times regards the victory in Ohio as a triumph of simple honesty over a base attempt to break the public faith and sully the National honor, and says the Republican party alone can now be depended on to steer the Nation clear of financial ruin.

The Post says in its financial article that it is safe to assume that inflation received its death blow yesterday, and the danger which threatened the country on account of it have been removed for all time. This means that instead of another era of rotten speculations, ending in disaster and ruin, the country will enter on a career of substantial prosperity, in which legitimate trade will at least have a good chance as speculation. While there is much to be done to secure a sound currency, it is certain that whatever steps are taken hereafter to do that end instead of away from it. This will give confidence to capital which, instead of being locked up, will now seek employment in such enterprises as promise fair returns. The times are exceptionally favorable for capitalists. The one element needed was confidence, and nothing could strengthen that more than the defeat of the inflationists.

Hunter & Co.'s Liabilities

The liabilities of W. B. Hunter & Co., who suspended yesterday, are $150,000. Their assets are not stated.

Moody and Sankey Coming to Brooklyn.

It is now believed settled that Moody and Sankey will commence in Brooklyn the 24th of this month and go to Philadelphia after four weeks' labors there.

The Row in Fulton's Church

The meeting in Hanson Place Baptist Church resulted in the defeat of the projects of Fulton to prevent an investigation of the charges of fraud made by his friends, by a vote of 99 to 145. He then caused a resolution to be introduced to expel a member on the ground that the latter had published stories against Fulton and had called Fulton a liar. Fulton endeavored to have the resolution immediately adopted without any hearing of the person charged, but a motion by Alderman Richardson that it be referred to a committee was passed almost unanimously. One of Fulton's friends said, if he was God, he would destroy the church, root and branch. In the course of the debate Fulton called Richardson a liar twice.

Cheap Transportation.

The Cheap Transportation Association last night heard a report that the Committee recommending a new freight rail road to the West to be built at a cost of $70,000,000. It was referred back.

The Red Cloud Investigation—What Number Says of the Report.

The Red Cloud Investigation Commission completed their report to-day and are busy making copies, one of which will be sent to President Grant to-morrow and another to the Department of the Interior. Mr. Fletcher, a member of the Commission, said the report was quite lengthy, covering 500 pages of foolscap, and was responsive to all the charges made by Prof. Marsh, besides embracing a great deal of matter not referred to by him. In many of its details it will be interesting as showing the workings of the present system and will contain some recommendations of very important changes in the management. In conclusion, he said it would sound forth no specials sounded as many person on whose evidence featured wrong-doing.

Wanamaker Wished Affoat.

The annual report of President Orton of the Western Union Telegraph Company, shows the net profits of the year to be $4,-230,140. The gross receipts were $9,-241,078.42 of which the Company's proportion was $6,-241,078.42 of which the Company's proportion was $6,-241,078.42 of which the Company's proportion was $6

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE®

THE BOUQUET.

BY SARAH HELEN WHITMAN.

A beautiful boy was directed to give a bunch of choice flowers to a lady. He timidly approached and threw them at her feet. She acknowledged his innocent action in the following lines:

Dear Wilson, the pearly white blossoms you threw
All wet with the spring of an ocean never grew
They were gathered, I know, in some pasture where
Where children beloved of Spaniel rove,—

In some sagebold meadow enfolding by sweet—
Some path where the rivers of Paradise pass;
Where angels invisible, walk as your side,
Their unseen wings fluttering down the tide.

I shall clasp each your gift as a favor from Heaven,
By the hand of the dear little messenger given;
It shall perfume my life with the incense of love,
Till I meet you again in God's garden above.
